- 10) On or about October 28, 2022, the Plaintiff filed notice of civil claim No. 246736 in British Columbia Supreme Court, New Westminster Registry, against (“Donald”), ICBC, and several ICBC employees (the “ICBC Defendants”) including Siwinski, Leung and Ruggles, alleging torts of negligence and fraud.
- 11) On a date unknown to the Plaintiff, the ICBC Defendants retained Harper Grey to represent them in the aforementioned action.
- 12) On or about November 18, 2022, the Plaintiff received email from the Defendant Morris informing him that Morris and Harper Grey were appointed counsel for the ICBC Defendants in the aforementioned action. - 14) On or about January 12, 2023, and on other dates, the Plaintiff disclosed documents to Defendant Morris in relation to the aforementioned action.

Misrepresentations by Joel A. Morris

- 18) On or about July 12, 2023, ICBC and the ICBC employees filed amendments to their responses to civil claims ("ARTCCs"). Both amended responses were signed by Defendant Morris and had Harper Grey's address for service. The amended responses were served on the Plaintiff.
- 19) The two amended responses to civil claims signed by Defendant Morris and filed in court contained false representations, as detailed below:
- a) The Defendant Morris received document disclosure from the Plaintiff, which included email communications between the Plaintiff and ICBC employees, including the Defendant Siwinski, who was handling the Plaintiff's insurance claim.
 - b) Further, on dates unknown to the Plaintiff, Defendant Morris received document disclosure from the ICBC Defendants in relation to the facts alleged against them by the Plaintiff.
 - c) The Defendant, Morris, falsified the content of documents that had been disclosed to him by the Plaintiff and the ICBC Defendants, and submitted them in the amended pleadings. Specifically:
 - 1. Morris extracted and arranged excerpts from documents disclosed to him and presented them in a manner that altered their original meaning.
 - 2. Morris intended the material he submitted to be deceptive.
 - 3. Further, Morris concealed material facts from the pleadings and included irrelevant and misleading material.

- d) Further, in the same aforementioned pleadings, the Defendant, Morris, submitted representations that had been disclosed to him by the ICBC Defendants. These representations were false, and Morris knew them to be false.
- 20) On or about July 12, 2023, the Defendants' Sever and Stay application and the Plaintiff's Application to Strike were scheduled for hearing but were adjourned generally due to a lack of court time. The presiding judge, Justice Matthew Taylor, agreed to hear the parties' submissions on the sequencing of their applications to determine whether the Plaintiff's Application to Strike should proceed before the Defendants' Sever and Stay application. The judge ordered the parties to file written submissions (the "Sequencing Application") and to schedule a one-hour hearing.
- 21) The Parties' Sequencing Application was scheduled to be heard on September 27, 2023.
- 22) In support of the Sequencing Application, Morris filed the ICBC Defendants' Book of Record, which included the fraudulent ARTCCs dated July 12, 2023, with the intent that the Court would rely on them.
- 23) On or About September 27, 2024, Judge Taylor heard the parties' submissions for the Sequencing Application.
- 24) On or about October 20, 2023, Justice Taylor issued a decision on the Sequencing Application and ordered that the Plaintiff's Application to Strike be stayed, with the Defendants' Sever and Stay application to proceed first in time.
- 25) On or about June 4, 2024, the Plaintiff's appeal of Justice Taylor's decision was dismissed.

Unlawful Means Conspiracy

- 26) On or about August 15, 2024, the Plaintiff sent an email to the Defendants, ICBC and Harper Grey, specifically addressed to the individuals listed below, advising them of the false representations made by the Defendant, Morris. The email further cautioned them about potential legal consequences:
- a) The Defendant Beata Siwinski;
 - b) The Defendant Edward Leung;

- c) Derek Lising, Claims Support Assistant-NOCC Handling Dept, Claims Legal Services at ICBC;
- d) Romina Ambrosio, Claim Support Specialist at ICBC;
- e) Jonathan D. Meadows, partner at Harper Grey LLP.
- f) Corinne Caldwell, Chief Operating Officer at Harper Grey LLP.

27) On a date unknown to the Plaintiff, the ICBC Defendants, and each of them, agreed with the Defendants, Morris and Harper Grey LLP, to continue advancing Morris's false representations in order to deceive the Court and have them removed from the claim, as follows:

- a) The Defendants, and each of them, agreed to continue to appoint Harper Grey and Morris as counsel.
- b) The Defendants, and each of them, agreed that Morris would continue advancing the pleadings he had submitted on their behalf, which they knew contained his false representations and deceitful material.

28) On or about September 11, 2024, the Plaintiff filed an application to set aside Justice Taylor's October 20, 2023 order on the basis that it was obtained by deceit (the "Application to Set Aside") accompanied by affidavit evidence and exhibits served on Morris and others. The Application was scheduled to be heard on December 2, 2024.

29) On or about October 8, 2024, Justice Taylor was assigned to manage the Plaintiff's claim.

30) On or about November 19, 2024, Justice Taylor set February 6 and 7, 2025, as the dates for hearing the Defendants' Sever and Stay application.

31) The Plaintiff's Application to Set Aside, scheduled for hearing on December 2, 2024, and subsequently on January 13, 2025, was adjourned generally on both occasions due to a lack of court time. On both dates, Harper Grey assigned the Defendant, Pilley, a partner in their law firm, as counsel in place of Morris to represent the ICBC Defendants at the hearing.

32) Pilley knew that the Application to Set Aside alleged fraud against Morris and that its purpose was to expose and set aside the fraudulent pleadings. Pilley had knowledge of, and possession of, copies of the supporting affidavit evidence and exhibits.

- 33) Pilley, Harper Grey, and Morris, and each of them, agreed to continue advancing Morris's fraud upon the Court. To that end, Pilley was assigned to defeat the Plaintiff's Application to Set Aside.
- 34) The Plaintiff was unable to reschedule the Application to Set Aside to a date prior to the hearing of the Defendants' Sever and Stay application.
- 35) In support of the Defendants' Sever and Stay application, the Defendant, Morris, submitted into Court the ICBC Defendants' Book of Record, which included the fraudulent ARTCCs. Morris intended that the Court rely on those pleadings, including his false representations.
- 36) On or about February 6 and 7, 2025, Justice Taylor heard the Defendants' Sever and Stay application.
- 37) On or about March 19, 2025, Justice Taylor ordered that the Defendants be severed and that the allegations against them be stayed.
- 38) As a result of the Defendants' actions, the Plaintiff have suffered, and will continue to suffer, loss and damage, particulars of which include, inter alia, the following:
- a) The Plaintiff was unlawfully deprived of his right to advance his cause of action against the ICBC Defendants in the motor vehicle and fraud action.
 - b) Increased litigation costs and time.
 - c) Irreversible loss of evidence, without which the Plaintiff could not successfully continue to advance his motor vehicle and fraud action.
 - d) Such further particulars as may be determined.

- 6) The Plaintiffs claim against the Defendants, and each of them, for costs.
- 7) The Plaintiffs claim such further and other relief as this Honorable Court deems just.
- 8) The Plaintiff is entitled to damages for mental distress, inconvenience, and damages at large.
- 9) The Defendants have engaged in conduct that is harsh, reprehensible, and calculated to cause harm to the Plaintiff. Their conduct is deserving of condemnation and warrants punishment in the form of an order for punitive damages.

Joel A. Morris

- 1) The Defendant Morris falsified statements and concealed material facts in order to deceive the Court for the purpose of causing harm to the Plaintiff.
- 2) Morris knew the Court would rely on the fraudulent ARTCCs in the hearing of the Sever and Stay application, and, in fact, he intended to deceive the Court with his false and misleading representations.
- 3) The Defendant Morris intended to, and did in fact, target the Plaintiff; his fraud was designed to ensure that the Plaintiff's claims against the ICBC Defendants would not proceed, and he used unlawful means to achieve that objective.
- 4) The Defendant Morris's fraud resulted in loss and damage to the Plaintiff.

Harper Grey, Pilley, and Morris worked together to continue to defraud the Court and to target the Plaintiff.
